BUMPER FRUIT CROP IN WEBER COUNTY

(ar of Fancy Cherries Goes to Chicaso-Big Output of Peaches And Apples.

ogden, June 18.-In spite of the late fosts and the existing unusually dry gason, fruit growers in all sections of Weber county report most promisis conditions for a bumper crop. The for straight car load of cherries to he shipped from this section left Frile shipped from this day morning for Chicago and contained 2,436 cases, of fancy cherries, which will net from $1.50 to $2 per case. Modern methods of fruit packing have been observed this year in the fact of the Ogden fruit forwers' association and top pices are expected as a result. Repicts on the apple crop are most encursing about 20 cars of which will be shipped from this section. Peach total loss and when it is considered that no less than 200 cars of Weber county packes will be put on the outside parket in addition to the large home consumption. REMODELING UNION DEPOT.

OGDEN, June 18 .- Improvements or large scale are now being made at 6 Ogden Union depot and it is under-99d that the entire building will be remodeled, owing to the rapidly in-creasing traffic at this point. Pas-sengers and baggage from nearly 70 trains a day are handled at the depot and the already spacious rooms de-voted to these departments of the railvoted to these departments of the rail-road business are found to be much too small. It is rumored that the en-tire north end of the depot building will be thrown into one immense pas-senger waiting room, thus necessitating the baggage department seeking other quarters. The baggage department will sither occupy a new building to be erected on the present site of the depot annex or will move into the south end of the building now used as a power and boiler house. It is understood that the American and Wells-Fargo express rompanies are understood that the American and Wells-Fargo express companies are badly cramped for more room and it is sery probable that an extension will be made at that end of the group of railroad buildings. A new building to be used for depot employes and for the power station, will be erected at the south end of the depot yards. A two story building will likely be erected on the site of the north depot annex with ample accommodations and ofon the site of the north depot annex with ample accommodations and office room for the district agent of the Pullman company, the train auditors and other railroad officials not located in the depot proper. The lunch counter room is to be doubled in size and the seating capacity greatly enlarged. These, and other important changes, simply add to the importance of Ogden as a railroad center.

DAN HANSEN GIVEN SEVEN YEARS FOR CATTLE STEALING

(Special Correspondence.) RICHFIELD. June 17 .- The case of the State of Utah vs. Dan Hansen, which has been occupying the attention of the district court for the past week or 10 days was given to the jury about noon yesterday and after being out five hours they returned a verdict of guilty as charged. He was sentenced by Judge J. F. Chidester today to serve seven years in the state penitentiary. The motion for a new trial, which was denied and the sentence was passed at 2 o'clock. Hansen has still four other charges of grand larceny hanging over him, but it is thought that these will be dropped. The attorneys for the defense will make no further effort for a new trial. He will probably be taken to the state prison tomorrow.

Hansen was convicted of selling cattle belonging to W. H. Brown and other Salina men, to various butchers in the county, particularly J. H. Willardson of Elsinore who was the state's chief witness and who testified to having bought the cattle belonging to the parties named and was requested by Hansen to return the hides when they were butchered. HUNSAKER, ALEXANDER — At his home near Mesa, Maricopa county. Arizona, Alexander Hunsaker died suddenly June 10, 1910, of heart failure, from which he had suffered many years. He was born May 19, 1852, at Little Cottonwood, Utah, where he passed his young manhood. He was the son of Abraham Hunsaker and Harriet Beckstead. He filled a mission among the Shoshone Indians, at Washakie, Utah, laboring faithfully for nine years. He married Miss Melissa C. Johnson in 1869, and they resided at Heneyville, Utah, until 1884, when he went to Arizona, settling first in Apache county. A few years later he went to Maricopa county, and afterwards moved to Mesa, settling in the Alma ward. When that ward was reorganized, in 1891, he was called to be the bishop, in which position he served the people for 15 years, when, owing to his failing health and extensive business affairs, he was released and his son Edgar was appointed in his stead. The same year he was called as a member of the high council of the Maricopa stake, being ordained by Apostic Teasdale on his last visit to this stake. The funeral was held in the stake tabernacie Sunday morning, June 12, and it was one of the largest in attendance ever held here. The large building was filled to overflowing, with the many friends and relatives of the deceased, while a large delegation of the county officials came over from Phoenix to pay a tribute of respect to the man who had so won their admiration for his ideal life and service. The services were presided over by President J. T. Lesueur, and the various speakers dwelt on the exemplary life of the deceased, telling of his honesty and integrity, of the simplicity of his life, of his cleanliness not only in private life, but in his public and pocemetery. and integrity, of the simplicity of) ife, of his cleanliness not only i private life, but in his public and po-titical life. - The speakers were Elder J. prevented by Chief of Police Barlow from shooting A. F. Finkell.

The story, sensational in some of its details, was only told with the discovery of the whereabouts of the girl, who had been missing from the home of her sister, Mrs. Anale Clark, 376 east. Third South street, for a night and a day, and who it was thought had been enticed away and secreted by Finkell. In the search for the missing girl there were concerned not only the father, who hurried to Salt Lake in response to telegrams, and the sister of the girl, but her finances G. E. Hexson, a carpenter of Salt Lake, who with a marriage license secured Wednesday had expected to claim the girl as his wife Thursday night.

When on Thursday night the anxiety of Mrs. Clark and Mr. Hexson over the mon-appearance of the girl led to a almost all night long search, it was discovered that Jewell Wadsworth had been in the company of Finkell. After the arrival of the father, Dr. Wadsworth from Morgan City, yesterday noon. Finkell was taken into custody by Detectives Golding and Wilson at his room in the St. Cecil hotel. When taken to the station and confronted by the father, sister and finance he refused to tell the whereabouts of the girl, although implying that he knew where she was. While attempts to force him to tell were being made, the father, in an outburst of uncontrollable passion attempted to draw a revolver and had it half drawn from his pocket when Chief of Police Barlow detected the action and secured the gurl. The father then drew a pocketknife, which was also taken from him.
